Transnational workshop

Mobility for sustainable tourism and territorial competitiveness

Mobility services and infrastructures are key assets in the tourism business. They foster accessibility to touristic sites and drive territorial competitiveness. Planning and delivering sustainable mobility systems for tourists provide value to local businesses and touristic resources protection. The webinar involves policy makers, transport nodes and providers, touristic businesses and research bodies to share experience and practices concerning challenges and opportunities in building sustainable and attractive mobility systems for tourists. The webinar also aims at identifying key themes for future regional and European projects.
